

I feel that all residents of New Jersey have the right to say they do not want to be called by solicitors. The seller does not have the right to call the buyer if they do not want to be called.